Big French Port Shelled by Navy In Final Attacks

Biggest Victory Of Invasion Looms

By JAMES M. LONG

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Tuesday, June 20 (AP)—Veteran United States troops in a swift 100-mile smash through crumbling resistance hurled thousands of trapped Germans back onto their main hill defense line only six miles south of Cherbourg yesterday as big American guns began the siege of France's third largest port.

Unofficial estimates said from 25,000 to 50,000 Germans were trapped at the end of the second week of Allied invasion.

Headquarters communique No. 28 said of the American sweep: "The Allies stranglehold on the Cherbourg peninsula has been strengthened by a series of local advances."

Americans within 8 miles. Dispatches direct from the field at 7 p. m. last night (1 p. m. eastern war time) said American spearheads were within eight miles of the prize port after doubling the width of their steel band shearing off the top of the peninsula.

Prime Minister Churchill in a speech four days ago just released yesterday said Allied summer victories might bring "full success to the cause of freedom," and said 1,000,000 men might be engaged presently on both sides.

The Americans were on the verge of their biggest victory since the invasion, bearing down swiftly on the primary German defense line outside Cherbourg.

German Attack Repulsed. The headquarters communique said a German attack had been repulsed near Tilly-sur-Seulles and noted increased enemy shelling at Caen, on the British-Canadian end of the front in the east. Allied warships continued to give support on the eastern flank by engaging enemy mobile batteries.

An officer in the field predicted the fate of Cherbourg would be decided on the German defense line which American troops now had practically reached.

"They may try to make Cherbourg another Sevastopol," an officer told Associated Press correspondent Doris Whitehead. "There is little doubt they have been ordered to fight to the last."

Bizerte Vets in Action. Although headquarters did not identify the troops racing in from the south, it appeared they were the Ninth division, which captured Bizerte thirteen months ago.

Wheeling northward from St. Jacques De Nehou and Barneville near the west coast, the Yanks in an overall gain of ten miles rolled through Briquiere, an important highway town eleven miles south of Cherbourg, and hurled the Germans three miles beyond the city.

Ahead of Schedule In South Pacific, Gen. Owens Declares

SPOKANE, Wash., June 19 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Ray L. Owens, who commanded the Thirteenth air force in the South Pacific from last June until January, told the Chronicle in an interview today the American forces are months ahead of schedule in the war against the Japanese in the Pacific.

"The South Pacific is completely cleared up in the air," he declared. "The general, home on leave, said that 'when we first went down there it looked anything but good,' and added:

"The progress in the Pacific is much better than we had hoped for. While the opposition has been stiff, we are ahead of schedule—months ahead."

Marshall and Clark Visit Rome And Other Italian Battle Areas

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ROME, June 19 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Army chief of staff, and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, United States Army Air Force chief, flying on from a personal inspection of the Normandy battlefront, have visited Rome and the Italian battle areas, it was permitted to be disclosed today.

It was Marshall's first visit to the Italian front, and he not only toured the area where United States troops have chased the Germans some 100 miles above the Eternal

"World's Biggest Racket"

Started by New Deal To Continue In Power, Sen. O'Daniel Charges

Democrats Opposed to Fourth Term Hear Texan Flay Roosevelt; Prefer To Support Republican

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—A group of Democrats fighting against a fourth term nomination heard Senator W. Lee O'Daniel (D-Tex.) declare tonight that the New Deal had "set up machinery for the biggest racket this world has ever seen for the purpose of perpetuating itself in power."

In an address prepared for the American Democratic National committee, O'Daniel asserted that the national administration had transferred part of the government's taxing power "to a gang of labor leader racketeers by supporting the check-off collection of union dues."

"From this swag taken by the labor leader racketeers campaigns are paid for to help re-elect the members of Congress and the president who set up the legal authority for the racket," the Texas senator declared.

O'Daniel spoke after the anti-fourth term committee members repeatedly had applauded speakers who called for support of the Republican presidential nominee if the Democratic national convention renominates the president of picks another with his views.

The group, which registered about seventy-five delegates from twenty-eight states, planned to adopt a platform tomorrow. Chairman Gleason L. Archer outlined proposals, including a recommendation that the group favor international co-operation to preserve future peace "but condemning 'union now,' a world state or a world WPA."

Gov. Neely Boored By College Boys

Drastic University Shakeup Opposed

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., June 19 (AP)—As West Virginia University students demonstrated in opposition to the proposed shake-up, a new university board of governors debated tonight a gubernatorial declaration that President Charles E. Lawall should be replaced.

While a sizeable portion of the student body chanted "we want Lawall," Gov. Matthew M. Neely told the board that the university should seek an administrative head who would make it a better institution of higher learning.

Board Seems Divided. The seven-member board, five of whose members had been replaced by Neely in the last two months, reconvened after a dinner recess and members said privately they expected the session to continue until midnight at least.

When Neely arrived to present his arguments, he was forced to walk over a partially obliterated sign painted by students which said: "Keep politics out—keep Lawall in."

Boos From Students. After telling the day session that the university for several years had "been slowly dying of dry rot," the governor left to an accompaniment of boos from a student group.

In later discussions with students Neely went and again denied that politics was a factor in his desire for a change, but each mention of the word precipitated groans from the assemblage.

Comet Bombs Become Favorite Targets

LONDON, June 19 (AP)—The German's vaunted comet bombs—dubbed "Doodle Bugs" by unawed fighter pilots—have become the favorite quarry of Americans because, as one Mustang pilot put it, "they can't shoot back at you."

The Ninth United States Air Force announced today Mustang and Thunderbolt pilots had destroyed a number of Adolf Hitler's pilotless projectiles and said this now was a favorite sport in the Ninth.

United States ground batteries also have knocked down a sizeable total of the rocket bombs over the south coast, official advisers said. One was blasted by a warrant officer using an improvised fifty caliber machine-gun.

City, but also the former Anzio beachhead, and flew over the Liri valley, Cassino and its shattered abbey.

Arnold left Marshall after the first phase of the tour to go to various air bases in Italy.

Russians Enter Viipuri Suburbs

Finland on Verge Of Final Defeat

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

LONDON, Tuesday, June 20 (AP)—Russian troops pouring through the broken Finnish Mannerheim line on a thirty-mile front swept to a point less than ten miles from Viipuri yesterday as Soviet airmen and long-range artillery began bombing and shelling Finnish ships attempting to flee the seaport at the top of the Karelian Isthmus, Moscow announced early today.

The London News-Chronicle's correspondent with the Soviet troops said Marshal Leonid A. Govorov's spearheads already were fighting in Viipuri's suburbs, and added that the Russians "shortly will be in a position to dictate terms" to the Finns.

Amid reports that Finland was about to quit the war, the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet predicted the Finnish cabinet would be revamped today. It said Premier Edwin Linkomies and Finance Minister Vaino Tanner, the two men largely responsible for Finland's rejection of Soviet armistice terms three months ago, would retire.

A midnight Russian communique said Soviet airmen had sunk sixteen ships in Viipuri harbor, including six transports, and that one Russian infantry unit alone wiped out 1,000 Finns yesterday.

Vandenberg Sees Russ-Finn Peace

Senator Believes Way Can Be Found

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) expressed hope today that the United States still might bring about an eleventh hour armistice between Finland and Russia, while Rep. George (D-Wash.) proposed that this country break its ties with Spain and help overthrow the Franco regime.

The "human aspirations" voiced in the Atlantic Charter, Vandenberg told the Senate, would be vindicated if the United States used its "great voice and power" to obtain an armistice and then later try to see to it that Finland gets a chance to carry on in the postwar world.

Coffee, proposing a severance of diplomatic relations with Spain, accused the Franco government of sending troops and materials to the German war machine and the Spanish falange of fighting against the good neighbor policy in South America.

Vandenberg, one of his party's leading spokesmen on the Senate Foreign Relations committee, brought up the subject of the Finnish-Russian armistice in expressing regret that the government had found it necessary to order Finnish Minister Hjalmar Procopé to leave the country.

While emphasizing that he was standing by the government's action of such a matter in time of war, he defended Procopé as one who has "never harbored so much as one vagrant thought that was consciously hostile to our own United States." Any "inimical" actions attributed to Procopé, the senator asserted, could only stem from the "distrustful anxiety" of his country.

French Colonial Troops Capture Historic Elba

1,800 Prisoners Taken on Island

By LYNN HEINZERLING

ROME, June 19 (AP)—French Colonial troops completed the conquest of historic Elba island today and captured 1,800 prisoners while on the Italian mainland Eighth army forces pushed forward to positions less than three miles from Perugia, the major communications center between Rome and Florence.

Capture of the island was disclosed in an Allied African headquarters communique released at Algiers which said that the French, despite stubborn enemy resistance, drove the Germans from position after position during the past twenty-four hours and wiped out all resistance with capture of Porto Longone.

Only a Few Escape. The vigorous and rapid advance of the French troops prevented the evacuation of all but a small portion of the enemy garrison, the bulletin said.

The majority of the 1,800 troops were Germans, it was announced. Also taken was a large quantity of material.

It was disclosed that Gen. George C. Marshall, United States chief of staff, and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the American air forces, had visited Rome and the Italian front and had conferred with Allied commanders.

Meet Stiff Opposition. American Fifth army troops driving up the Italian west coast ran into some of the stiffest opposition since the capture of Rome as they thrust onto high ground north of Grosseto. The Germans threw reserves of artillery into an effort to check the Yank advance and fought tenaciously for each natural defense position.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's troops continued to make progress, however, a headquarters communique said, driving the enemy from several strong points, capturing Campagna and sending advance units ten miles north of Grosseto. French forces in the same general area seized Roccalbegna and approved Radiofani.

Germans Prove Stubborn. The enemy, though still falling back steadily toward the Pisarini, or "Gothic" line, north of Florence, was putting up noticeably stiffer rearguard resistance all the way across the peninsula. The Nazi garrison of Perugia, big road hub eighty-five miles north of Rome and about seventy-two miles southeast of Florence, was fighting with particular stubbornness.

Eighth army troops driving toward the city from the east captured Assisi, twelve miles away, and thrust on another four miles through Bastia.

Heavy Fighting Reported. Heavy fighting was reported at Citta Della Pieve, twenty-two miles southwest of Perugia. Along the Adriatic coast Allied forces captured Bellante, fourteen miles east of Ascoli and only eight miles from the Tonto river. There was no Allied confirmation of a German report of raids by Allied Commandos along the Adriatic coast.

Field dispatches said Maj. Gen. Jean De Lattre De Tassigny's French Colonial had captured hundreds of German prisoners on Elba and predicted the entire island would be occupied by tonight. Napoleon's villa, where the emperor spent his first exile, was in Allied hands.

Allied Assault Engineers Ride Roughshod over German Defenses

TWENTY-FIRST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, June 19 (AP)—The Allied assault engineers were annoyed in their work by fire pouring from a string of German pillboxes, so a party of British bulldozer drivers opened the throttles, dropped the blades and charged straight at the German positions.

smothered them in fresh earth, and then went on with their regular jobs.

Before a sloping four-foot concrete wall, Allied infantry wavered and threatened to break. A party of assault engineers appeared in tanks.

Gov. Dewey Will Run, New York Leaders Assert

Say He'll Accept And Be Elected

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—New York state Republican leaders officially announced for the first time today that it is their opinion Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will be nominated for president, that he will accept here before the convention adjourns—and that he will be elected in November.

J. Russell Sprague, Republican national committeeman for New York, spoke for the entire state party organization at a news conference. He said flatly that he and Edwin F. Jacek, state chairman, and Herbert Brownell, Dewey's campaign manager for the governorship in 1940 and 1942, came here to "draft" the 42-year-old governor now serving his first term at Albany. The convention opens June 26.

In Albany, Dewey had no comment on Sprague's announcement.

Dewey Still Silent. The Sprague news conference brought the campaign to nominate Dewey into the open for the first time since talk of the former New York racket buster for the presidency started two years ago. Dewey has insisted from the beginning that he is not a candidate.

The New Yorkers were part of a growing, pushing stream of delegates arriving in Chicago for the preliminary committee meetings and lobby conferences which always mark the last week before convention time.

Bricker Backers Confident. Activity was stepped up on behalf of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

Bricker headquarters—through Roy D. Moore, one of the Ohio's managers—predicted Bricker's nomination on the "sixth or seventh ballot." Announcement was made also that backers of Lieut. Com. Harold E. Stassen would meet the press for the first time in the pre-convention excitement tomorrow morning.

Asserting there is an "overwhelming demand" for Dewey throughout the country, but stating the governor had not been consulted on what the three would announce here, Sprague read from notes:

"We are here representing the Republicans and the Republican organization of New York state to draft Dewey and nominate him. In our opinion, when he is nominated Gov. Dewey will, the same as any true American would, come to the convention, accept the nomination, and in November will be elected to the presidency."

Casualties To Govern Number of Inductions

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state Selective Service director, said today that from now on the number of inductions into the armed forces would reflect the number of casualties on the fighting fronts.

Draft replacements had been light for the last several weeks, Col. Stanwood stated, because casualties from the first of the invasion landings had been about half of the anticipated losses.

Daily inductions are averaging less than half of the 500 per day capacity of the induction center and there may be a further decrease, Col. Stanwood reported.

He pointed out, however, that should casualty reports become heavy, the draft quotas would be enlarged quickly.

At present, he said, the army and coast guard are at full strength, and the navy is nearly so. The slight navy deficit was caused by a lack of training facilities.

Soviet Union Wants To Spend Many Billions in U. S., Johnson Asserts

President of Chamber of Commerce Says Russia Would Make Payments for All Purchases in Full

MOSCOW, June 19 (AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told a press conference today that Foreign Trade Commissioner Anastas Mikoyan had authorized him to say the Soviet Union wants to buy "many billions of dollars worth of American goods on purchase terms mutually advantageous to the two countries involved."

"Furthermore," Johnston said, "the Russians would pay for these purchases strictly on agreement and time payments. There is no question about their not paying in full."

Asked for specific figures on business which the Russians wished to do with the United States, Johnston replied that "I haven't got the figures. All I could get was 'many billions.'"

Johnston said he had seen a very great amount of American equipment around Moscow, and that it was of the very latest design.

The American business leader visited Leningrad and is planning to visit industrial areas in the Ural mountains. He is expected to return to the United States by July 8, by way of Teheran.

Americans Use Mokmer Airstrip

880 More Miles To Philippines

By ROBERT EUNSON

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Tuesday, June 20 (AP)—Americans fighting for control of all Dutch New Guinea have tightened their defenses of vitally-important Mokmer airstrip and have put into operation another field in the Schouten islands only 880 miles from the Philippines, headquarters announced today.

On Blak island, largest of the Schoutens, Americans captured an important ridge north of Mokmer and inched closer to two remaining airfields, Borokoe and Sorido.

Gen. MacArthur's communique added: "Since our occupation of Owi island eighteen days ago, we have constructed an airfield which is in operation." Owi lies just off Blak, where Mokmer strip, captured June 7, has been put into operation.

American infantrymen, supported by tanks, launched the vital attack against the ridge 2,500 yards north of the west end of Mokmer airstrip at 11 a. m. Saturday. Two and a half hours later the enemy had been driven from the position.

"Now we'll have much easier going," a MacArthur spokesman said. "Enemy mortars, artillery and automatic weapons firing down on our troops from this ridge have held up our advance toward Borokoe since Mokmer drome was taken."

Attack Trak Again. A large flight of Liberators of the Thirteenth army air force blasted Truk in the Caroline islands Saturday, hurling fifty-five tons of bombs upon Dublon and Eten islands.

Twenty-five Zeros intercepted. The Liberators shot down twelve and damaged six more. Two of the B-24s were lost.

Labor Candidate Badly Defeated

PORTLAND, Me., June 19 (AP)—Mounting returns indicated tonight that a labor-backed candidate was losing his bid for both the Republican and Democratic nominations in Maine's First Congressional district.

With the vote of two-thirds of the district counted, United States Rep. Robert Hale was the apparent winner of the Republican nomination.

From 106 of the district's 152 precincts Hale had 10,942 votes to 1,400 for Andrew J. Pettis, president of the Portland local of the CIO Shipyard Workers' Union. Running third and fourth were Fred R. McFarland with 468, and William A. Holland with 454.

In the fight for the Democratic nomination, Pettis, a Republican, was running second in a field of three. He had 583 votes compared with 830 for John C. Fitzgerald and 286 for Scott F. Kittredge.

In a three-way fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, State Senator President Horace L. Hildreth was running far ahead.

With 424 of the state's 626 precincts tallied, Hildreth had 24,007 votes against 14,410 for former State Senator Roy L. Perna and 10,895 for House Speaker F. Ardine Richardson.

300 Jap Planes Shot Down Off Saipan Island

Marines and Army Troops Advancing

By LEIF ERIKSSON

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, June 19 (AP)—United States Marines and army troops have captured Aslito airfield and driven eastward all the way across Saipan island to the shore of Magicienne bay, while an estimated 300 Japanese planes attacking the off-shore American carrier task force were destroyed in the greatest Pacific air battle since Midway, Adm. C. W. Nimitz announced today.

Prepare Big Airbase. Seabees already are at work putting the Aslito airstrip on the island's major airbase in operation for United States planes.

The communique said it was believed a portion of the Jap planes making the attack extending over several hours on aircraft carriers Sunday were flying from Japanese carriers and using nearby shore bases for shuttle landings.

"The Jap attack was successfully repulsed in the large scale aerial battle by our carrier fighter planes and ships' anti-aircraft fire."

"Information presently available indicates that only one of our surface units was damaged and this damage was minor," Nimitz said.

Losses Not Revealed. No estimate is yet available on American aircraft losses in the first indicated engagement, with planes flying from the Jap fleet's aircraft carriers since the battle of Santa Cruz in October 1942.

The communique said our systematic bombing and strafing of airfields on Guam and nearby Rota "sharply limited" the effectiveness of the Japs use of shuttle shore fields to launch their carrier planes against our task force.

This designation of Rota and Guam, 116 miles south of Saipan, as probable shuttle points indicates enemy carriers were operating a considerable distance from the Marianas but were reluctant to close within range of United States carrier bombers.

The carrier task force's great battle overshadowed the decisively important successes in the Saipan ground fighting.

American assault troops drove on a fairly wide front completely across the island to the shore of Magicienne bay, three and one-half miles from the western landing beach. This sweeping advance of about a mile and a half since Friday cut off some of the enemy defenders in a tight arrow-shape sector on Saipan's southeastern corner on Lalo point.

The communique said the Japanese continued counterattacking American ground forces but all enemy attacks have been successfully thrown back.

Churchill Dashes Hopes of Germans

LONDON, June 19 (AP)—Allied victories this summer may bring "full success to the cause of freedom," but the longer the struggle continues the "more terrible" it will be for the enemy, Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared in a speech four days ago at the Mexican embassy.

In a luncheon address, permitted to be published only today, Britain's leader sounded his most optimistic note since Dunkerque and struck strongly at any lingering Nazi hopes of winning a compromise peace by putting up stubborn resistance to the invasion. He said possibly 1,000,000 men were engaged in the present struggle in France.

"It is a great moment in the history of the world," Churchill said, "and it may be that events will occur in the next few months which will show us whether we are soon to be relieved of the curse which has been laid upon us by the Germans."

Authorities, apparently had been sleeping in the garage and, during today in the kitchen of their former home which Saturday was fumigated with cyanide gas. Detective Sgt. William T. Fitzgibbons said.

Fitzgibbons identified the pair as Robert Howard, 11, and Ruth Howard, 17. He said they and their father, Edward Howard, a one-armed Delaware, Lackawanna and Western switch tender, had been evicted from the house before June 1.

Fitzgibbons said the children, attempting to hide from welfare

Two other brothers, John, 13, and Norman, 12, are in an institution. Another brother, Edgar, 18, and a sister, Geraldine, 20, live with friends. Police said the mother died five years ago.

FDR, Churchill Probe Proposed

Senators Charge Prewar Agreement

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—The Senate debate on foreign policy late today, Senator Connally (D-Texas) pleaded for unity and against "sniping behind the lines" and Senators Shipstead (R-Minn.) and Wheeler (D-Mont) proposed a Senate investigation to determine whether Winston Churchill, before becoming prime minister, had obtained assurances of help in the war from President Roosevelt.

At one point Wheeler said Churchill had been "permitted to use the American code which, in my judgment, as I understand the law, is not to be used by any foreigner."

Shipstead started the discussion by reading a news dispatch from London (Chicago Tribune Press Service) which said a member of Parliament had questioned why a captain A.H.M. Ramsay, another member of Parliament, had been held in jail for years without a trial. The member suggested that the reason was the government feared disclosure of negotiations between President Roosevelt and Churchill when the latter still was first lord of the admiralty in the Chamberlain cabinet.

During the debate, Connally, chairman of the foreign relations committee, dashed out to a telephone, called the State department, and came back with what he termed the facts in the case. This was the way he outlined them:

Offers Explanation
Tyler Kent, an employee of the American embassy in London, became involved with a group in England which included Ramsay and a Russian woman, who were alleged to be conspiring to violate British law against the defense of the realm. Kent was alleged to have violated British law and the British government submitted the documents in the case to the American government, which decided Kent should be prosecuted under British law and which waived his diplomatic immunity.

Wheeler had said Kent formerly was in the diplomatic service in Russia and had been transferred to London after becoming "very anti-Communist." He said Kent was a code clerk and was decoding messages which passed between Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt. Wheeler said Kent made copies of the messages and very foolishly showed them to a member of Parliament and to a Russian woman.

Whitehead Tells Story of Battle Of Cherbourg

By DON WHITEHEAD

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS ADVANCING ON CHERBOURG, June 19 (AP)—With the shelling of the city itself, the battle for Cherbourg began tonight.

Two weeks after landing on the Normandy coast, doughboys almost were within sight of the port city as a result of one of the most sensational advances the American army has made in this war.

It is a thrilling sight to see the army moving up fast to take advantage of the breakthrough to the coast—troops marching along roads which a few hours ago were in enemy hands.

Many Germans Killed
There is no estimate as yet of the enemy dead. The fields, hedgerows and ditches hold the secret—bodies are lying where they fell because no one has had time yet to collect them.

There was hardly a pause from the time the Americans smashed their way across the neck of peninsula and beat back a frantic German effort to escape from the trap of steel, until they wheeled and swept toward Cherbourg.

Last night alone they captured 700 prisoners whose units had been disorganized by the breakthrough.

The Americans were not giving the enemy a chance to recover from the blows they suffered when the doughboys knifed their way across the peninsula. A stream of prisoners slogged along the roads, doughboys covering them with Tommy guns. The prisoners' faces showed their bewilderment.

Nazis in Wild Flight
Hitting northward from Barneville, one of the main points on the main west coast road cut by the American troops Saturday night, the doughboys swept through Briquebec. The Germans were pulling away so fast that they did not even put up a fight for the town.

Cutting off the Briquebec-Valognes highway denied the Germans another major communications route and made the American supply problem much simpler for advance units which had been fighting almost without pause for more than four days.

Deflection and confusion were apparent among some of the enemy troops. They simply were not prepared for the drive which trapped them, and they were unable to react to the situation. One division made a desperate escape attempt, but it was so badly mauled that it fell back to the Cherbourg line.

This last-ditch defense line before Cherbourg will be the battleground deciding the fate of the city. "They may try to make Cherbourg another Sevastopol," an officer said. "There is little doubt but that they have been ordered to fight to the last."

Russian Predicts Defeat of Japan
MOSCOW, June 19 (AP)—Out-right defeat of Japan was predicted for the first time today by a Russian author in a "war and the working class" article sharply criticizing Japanese imperialistic ambitions.

The writer, Klementi Popov, declared, "Japan has repeatedly occupied different territories on the Asiatic continent, but always has been forced to retreat. In the present war, Japan is in the camp of the Hitlerite coalition which is doomed to inevitable defeat."

There has been no change in Soviet-Japanese relations, but the publication carried a blunt, frank discussion on "Japan and the Occupied Countries of Eastern Asia."

James D. White Says: American Steel and Valor Forcing Hitler and Tojo To Make New Plans

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer
(Succeeding for Kirk L. Simpson)
American steel and valor shook both ends of the Axis over the weekend and today appeared to be forcing both Hitler and Tojo into major decisions of strategy.

Both in the windy rolling hills of Normandy and on the sunbaked flats of Salpna, American fighting men advanced, beat off frantic enemy counterattacks—and then advanced again.

Something had to be done to prevent Allied exploitation of the gains made, but essentially the Axis offered only local resistance.

In Normandy, Hitler has waited too long. Hard fighting remains, but all available evidence indicates he has lost Cherbourg, with its deep, stone-based harbor.

Dispatches speak of Nazi troop concentrations in the Coutances-St. Lo Hills which might be thrown into such an attempted rescue of the Cherbourg pocket, but unless Hitler chooses or is able to commit very considerable forces to this job they are likely to meet the same fate as the encircled Nazi garrison at Cherbourg whose first suicidal attempt to break through was hurled back.

The German high command cannot much longer put off this decision: to throw in heavy reserves in a last minute attempt to prevent Allied capture of Cherbourg, or to let it go.

It may well be that this decision already has been made—to let Cherbourg become another Sevastopol—and that the high command loosed the pilotless rocket plane against England to provide a propaganda antidote to the home front for the expected loss of Cherbourg.

There seems every reason now to believe that the Germans again have seriously underestimated their opponents—both as to their ability to supply an invasion across shallow beaches, and as to their willingness to take battle punishment. The only extenuating circumstance that seems likely to be behind the German failure to nip the Normandy invasion in the bud is the possibility that protracted Allied air-pounding of Nazi communications lines made it impossible for the Germans to move the necessary men and material to the beachhead front.

Japanese Drive Gains in China
Hunan Province Junction Periled

By SPENCER MOOSA
CHUNGKING, June 19 (AP)—A Japanese drive pointed ominously at the vital railway junction of Hengyang in lower Hunan province has made still more progress, the Chinese high command admitted tonight, and it also acknowledged a sudden setback in Yunnan province, far to the west, in the loss of Lungling on the Burma road.

With twice-defended Changsha encircled and its position now appearing virtually hopeless, the Japanese main body which by-passed the city drove several miles beyond captured Chuchow, less than seventy-five miles northeast of the Canton-Hankow railway city of Hengyang.

Chuchow is about twenty-five miles southeast of Changsha. About the same distance to the southwest, enemy troops who captured Siang-tan continued a push to the west, but later were checked, the Chinese communique said.

Pierce fighting continued unabated in the suburbs of Changsha itself, ordered held at all costs. Thirty miles to the west, in sanguinary fighting around Ningsiang, the Chinese claimed to have inflicted more than 1,500 casualties on the enemy.

As for the Yunnan province setback, just east of Northern Burma, tonight's communique announced a Chinese withdrawal from Lungling, captured June 10 in a drive proclaimed by the Chinese as the greatest victory of the Salween river offensive.

American artillery began an intensive shelling of German gun emplacements and installations at Cherbourg, exercising maximum care for the civilian population.

Yanks Swing Southward
Other American units swinging southward were threatening La Haye De Puits, twenty-four miles below Cherbourg, field dispatches said, and the Monday morning Allied communique said the belt across the peninsula was being "strengthened and widened."

On the western side of the peninsula the Americans now hold a cordon at least fourteen miles wide, from the area north of Briquebec south to St. Lo-D'Orville. The latter town is six miles northwest of La Haye.

A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent William L. Smith White at Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Twenty-first army group headquarters said it was estimated unofficially that the trapped Germans around Cherbourg might number as high as 50,000.

Nelson Would Shift 200,000 Workers
WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Donald M. Nelson asserted today that the next three months will be "highly critical" ones for war production and that 200,000 workers should be shifted immediately from their present locations to make "badly needed" war materials.

But despite this situation, the War Production Board chief told Senate investigators, he thought it was "essential" to the country's welfare to make concrete plans for restoring civilian production. He testified before the Senate War Investigating committee which is looking into prospects for stepping up the output of scarce civilian products such as pots and pans.

Japs Awaiting News Of Big Naval Victory
(By The Associated Press)
The Tokyo radio beamed to Southwest Asia yesterday a broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications commission, which said:

"It has been announced in Tokyo that the Japanese navy in the near future will win a great naval victory in the Central Pacific. We are all waiting for the news."

Rocket Bombing Of New York City Held Ridiculous

BOSTON, June 19 (AP)—John Hays Hammond, Jr., internationally known inventor, was quoted today by the Boston Traveler as saying that the Nazi's hope of bombing New York with its new rocket projectile was "ridiculous."

"Don't forget wind drift is an important factor," the paper quoted Hammond. "And the rate of fuel consumption, as far as I know, is so great for rockets and jet propulsion that I don't see how a bomb could make the trip. It sounds ridiculous to me."

Maryland G.O.P. Delegates Split
Dewey May Not Get All Votes

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—The first sign of a split in Maryland's uncommitted delegation to the Republican national convention appeared today when Sheridan F. Smith of Baltimore announced he would support Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio for the presidential nomination.

The twenty-two-member delegation, which will cast a total of sixteen votes in the convention, received a recommendation from the state convention that Governor Dewey of New York be supported on the first ballot.

However, the action of Smith was expected to be followed by several others. Smith said in a statement today:

"As to Governor Dewey, he is a young man full of ambition; but I believe on account of the war and the serious matters confronting us for several years to come, Governor Dewey needs more political training and experience to be an acceptable candidate at this time."

Meanwhile party leaders reported that Baltimore's Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin probably would be called upon to second the Dewey nomination. A number of speeches endorsing the nomination have been allotted various states, but it was expected that Maryland's claim to be included would be given recognition when the delegates reach Chicago.

The appointment is subject to recommendation by the Democratic state central committee, which will meet within ten days.

CONSTIPATION GONE WRITES INVENTOR!

"4 years' use convinces me nothing helps like KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN"

This true incident may bring new hope to constipation sufferers. Read this unsolicited letter!

"Some of my friends were talking about a laxative ad in the Post. I cut it out and told them how it has helped keep me out of a condition I was in 4 years ago. Then they told me the ad they were discussing was an ALL-BRAN ad—wonder if I should have a medal for spreading the good news about ALL-BRAN—which had helped these friends too." W. J. McLaughlin, 601 2nd St., Camden, N. J.

Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of sufficient "cellulose" elements in the diet—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements. They work by helping the friendly colonic flora to fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative medicine—but a wholesome, gentle-acting "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't cheer its welcome relief. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Censor Is a Lady

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—The G. I. letter writers in Australia now are cautioned to "watch your language, boys—the censor is a lady."

Plan To Increase Timber Production

BEL AIR, Md., June 19 (AP)—James R. Simmons, United States project forester, has disclosed that Frederick and Washington counties have been added to the northern district of the federal timber production war project in order to spur production of lumber in Maryland.

Stop-Dewey Talk Just Another New Deal Trick

SOME TALK has been heard lately to the effect that the Dewey movement is slipping in popular favor and that, in consequence, there has been increased opposition to it. But, considering the basis of the movement, this newspaper is inclined to the suspicion, voiced by Alfred M. Landon, that it is all New Deal-inspired.

Landon's opinion was brought out by Raymond Moley, who had heard the talk and asked him about it.

"Rumors that Dewey's chances are not so bright as they were," Landon authorized Moley to say for him, "grow out of a piece of political trickery the New Deal has developed in recent years. The purpose is to try to win the election before the leading opposition candidate is nominated. Note that most of the newspaper stories on this subject come from Washington."

Landon does not believe that the stop-Dewey talk comes from Governor Bricker, "who has the right to seek the nomination and who has made a fine campaign on the issues before the party." This newspaper coincides with that belief. But as for a lag in the Dewey movement, there is nothing in its history to support the assertion. The demand for him was spontaneous and it has been constantly growing with all evidence of continued momentum pointing to his selection on the first or second ballot at the Chicago convention next week.

"The demand for Dewey came from the grass roots," Landon said, "from the rank and file of the Republican party. Month after month, for two years, sentiment for him has been growing, and, wherever the voters have had a chance to express themselves, they have gone for him. The best example of that was the write-in vote in the Pennsylvania primary, where he ran ahead by from 20-1 to 40-1 over other Republicans mentioned for the nomination. I, for one, feel that to create a combination to block his nomination and throw the choice into the confusion of the convention would deny the people their paramount right to a voice in selecting their candidate."

The New Deal could, of course, like to block his nomination and can be expected to exert every effort to bring that about by the subtle and undercover methods in which it is a past master. Hence, it is pretty obvious as to whence the anti-Dewey talk emanates.

World Peace Plan Still in Embryo

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has at last come to the point where he is no longer safely indulging in evasiveness respecting an important issue. This is with regard to this government's plans for an international postwar security organization. His recent statement, which has been viewed as a sort of skeletonization of Secretary Hull's previous pronouncements, was limited to restatements save that "we are not thinking of a superstate with its own police force and other paraphernalia of coercive power."

That, of course, follows the idea of the Republican Mackinac Island declaration, which advised that "peace and security ought to be ultimately established upon other sanctions than force" and recommended "other means than war" for the determination of international controversies. There seems to be general agreement—by Churchill and Stalin as well as ourselves—that the only practical police force for preservation of peace is cooperation of Allied military forces as a last resort when that may be necessary.

But the real hot issue, which the president evaded, is the question of participation by the smaller nations, concerning which Senator Bridges, hitherto a supporter of the administration's foreign policy, raises a pertinent question. He wants to know whether they shall have a "representative" vote on the proposed international council, or whether they will be subordinated to the "big four." Here Secretary Hull and Churchill have disagreed.

That is a question which did as much as anything to wreck the Wilson League of Nations. It was not peevishness on the part of senators because they had been ignored, as has been so often misrepresented, that caused nonacceptance of the league by this nation but legitimate questions of constitutionality and the structure of the league, which gave dominance to Great Britain. The League Council, with a perfect equality of votes, was to be made up of nine members, five to represent the United States, "the British Empire," France, Italy and Japan, and four other members to be selected by the Assembly. But in the Assembly the British empire was given a plurality of votes, six in number, while the other nations were limited to one vote each. That preponderance was enhanced by British dominated friendly nations such as Portugal and Persia, with which Britain had special treaties.

There should, of course, be a court of international justice, but it is obvious that some means must be provided for enforcing its decisions. How that enforcement is to be decided is a real question. Another point to which consideration must be given is whether our present enemies are the only peoples who might ever threaten world peace.

The present program is, indeed, a minimum program. It may serve as a foundation on which to build, but it appears that this cannot be determined at the present stage of the current world struggle.

Germany Faces A Real Dilemma

WITH the coming of peace many war factors now obscure will be fully revealed. Those conversant with what may be termed inside facts will have opportunity to tell their stories, a privilege now denied by force of circumstance. This was the case following World War I when there was a surfeit of books describing conditions behind the scenes during fighting days.

Among the more interesting volumes forthcoming will be those concerned with conditions in Germany during the past year, and throughout the weeks still remaining before final defeat. While other nations have stood up against tremendous odds, and suffered much, none has been in quite the position that Germany is today.

The German people, their homeland blasted, their armies decimated, will face retribution without a single friend at the peace table. Because of the barbarous tactics of their leaders, they will be hated by the world.

It is this realization that spurs them to fight on against increasing odds. It is fear of the terrible revenge which will be exacted that makes them susceptible to Goebbels' propaganda. Otherwise they would cast upon their accounts and realize that, starting in Africa, throughout Russia, then in Italy and now in France, there has progressed a campaign which portends little short of extermination.

When the story of World War II is written, interesting chapters will describe how a once great people became victim of the most colossal crime ever perpetrated.

Unpopular and Unjust But It Must Be Paid

IT IS WELL to remind motorists that the new $5 federal automobile use stamps must be bought and displayed by the first of the coming month.

Few Americans object to taxes that help win the war. But here is a use tax on something the use of which is sharply restricted. Motorists continue to pay license fees to operate their cars, plus property taxes in many states. They pay a tax of one and one-half cents to the federal government on each gallon of gasoline purchased, plus a much larger state tax.

For an A-rated motorist, the federal use tax amounts to more than five cents on all the gasoline his classification permits him to buy. Thus the tax on gasoline alone, directly or indirectly, exceeds ten cents a gallon.

With pleasure driving virtually discontinued for the duration, drivers now pay an excessive amount of taxes on a form of transportation that is essential to employment and business.

However unpopular and unjust the tax, there is only one thing to do about it this time and that is, as this newspaper has heretofore stated, to buy the stamp and paste it on the car.

One editorial writer now refers to election day as E-day. To the voter marking his ballot it has always been a sort of X-day.

A Man and His Son

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Some day despite all I can ever do to prevent it, my son will stand before me in despair or accusation and say to me:

"You don't understand!"

And I'll stand there, looking at him, baffled, a little despairing, too, and wonder whether I do understand—if it is ever possible for any father to bridge that wide, deep gulf between the generations.

I do not know now what I shall say then to my son. . . . I may be able to convince him that though I do not understand enough about him and his problems, his doubts and beliefs and torment and ecstasy to help him much—even I, his father, was once as young as he and thought his own father did not understand.

I say I "may be able" to do that. I'm not so sure that I shall.

The years, even though they may not estrange, sometimes make a great gulf between the little lad who once thought his father knew everything—and now sees him only as one who stands in the way and says "Don't do that!"

A father may be very wise. He has made many mistakes, stumbled often, fallen, picked himself up, tried again. He is no taller than his young son, perhaps not physically as strong. When they are talking facts, they face each other as equals. But the father knows, if he knows anything at all, that emotionally he is more mature than his skittish young son.

He remembers more or less clearly how he felt when he was a boy. . . . how powerful emotion drove him on and on, how mightily the things he wanted bulged on his young horizon and how unreasonably and irrationally his elders seemed to oppose his desires.

When I face my young son on that predestined day, I hope I may remember how I used to feel—and I pray that I shall be able, somehow, to reach my hand across the gulf to that youth who is not as wise as he will grow to be.

DeGaulle Messes Military Program, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Many criticisms, fair and unfair, have been directed against President Roosevelt in his eleven, or more years in the White House but none so unfair as that which is coming at him from his own left-wing supporters—and from some other critics with an ordinarily balanced viewpoint—because of this government's policy toward Gen. De Gaulle.

Gen. De Gaulle is a sort of a personal antipathy or grievance against Gen. De Gaulle.

But the truth about De Gaulle is that the opposition to him within our own ranks comes from the army. It comes from men like General Marshall and Gen. Eisenhower. It comes from the military people in whose side Gen. De Gaulle has been a thorn from the very beginning. It comes out of strictly military considerations.

True Story Weighty

If the true story of what De Gaulle has said and done were explained some day to the American people by some one like Gen. Marshall, for instance, the folks who have been propagandizing for De Gaulle would be left high and dry. They would find it difficult to support the thesis that only some personal antipathy toward the French general by Mr. Roosevelt himself has been responsible for our government's policy in going slow about recognizing him as the head of the provisional French government.

The DeGaulle movement is to be distinguished from the personal ambitions of Gen. De Gaulle to win political power. There is no doubt that the DeGaulleists are the uncompromising Frenchmen who have been militant against Germany ever since the surrender of France in June, 1940. But when Gen. De Gaulle, as their leader, has sought to capitalize this movement for political purposes he has overplayed his hand.

Fortunate Departure

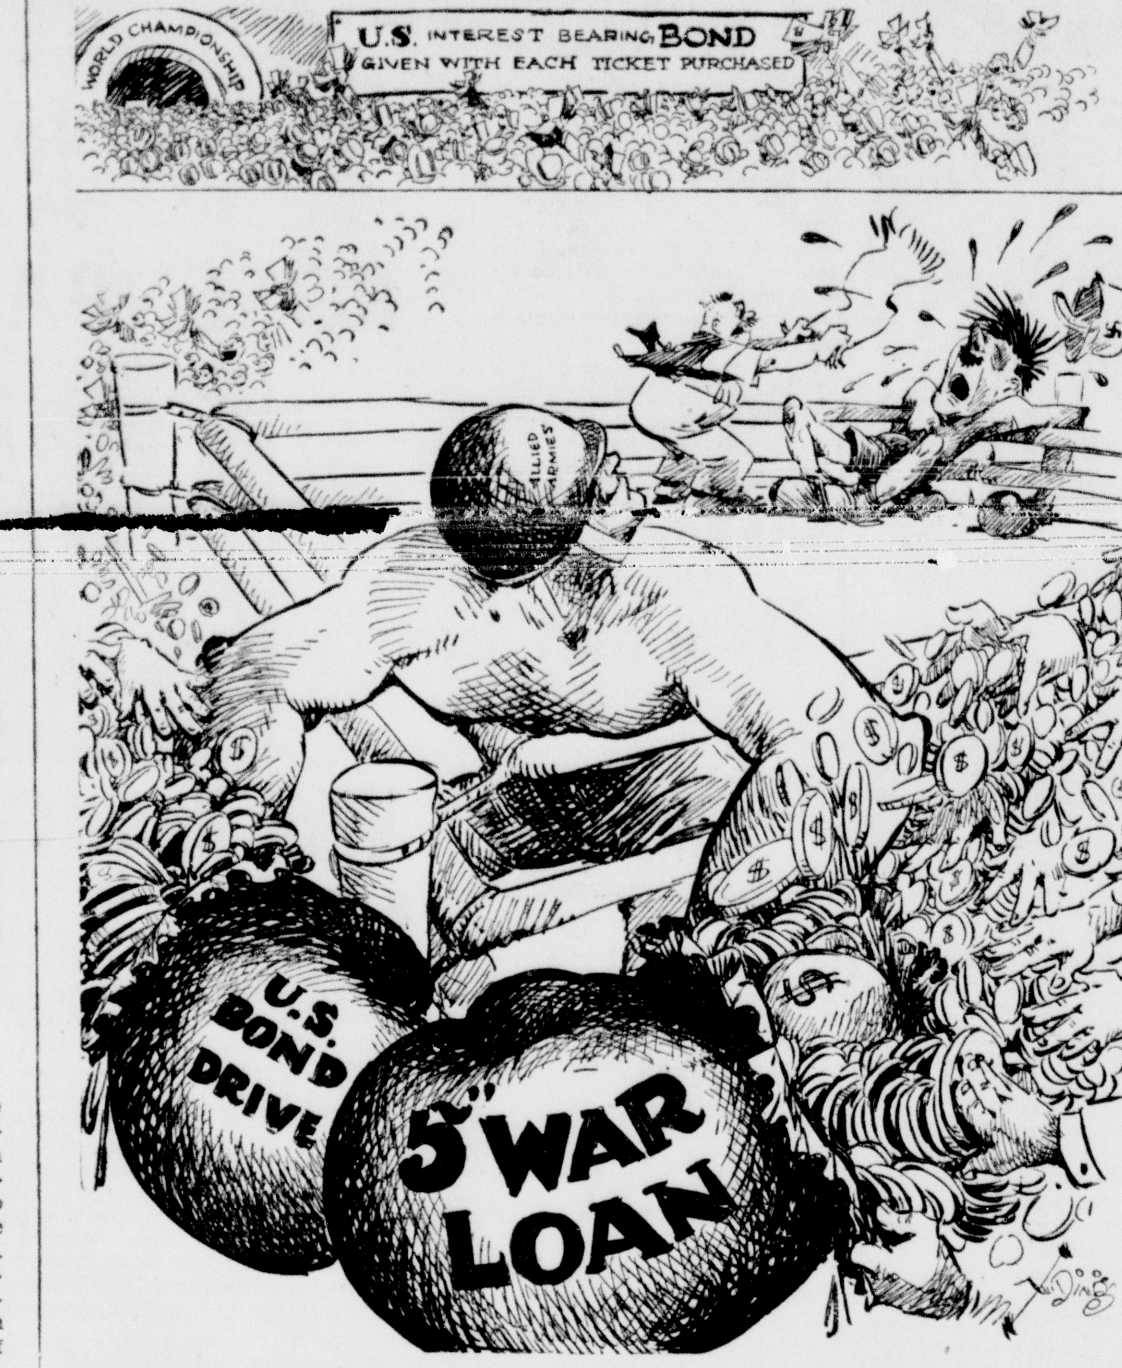

It is fortunate that De Gaulle has gone back to Algiers. He butted into the invasion picture last week and gave Gen. Eisenhower a deplorable problem just as the French general butted in on the military operations in North Africa. When the Sicilian invasion was launched, Gen. De Gaulle cried that he hadn't been consulted. The truth is Gen. Eisenhower had little faith in De Gaulle as a military man and still less as a practical co-operator in civil matters. It is one of the tragedies of our war operation in Europe that at moments when Gen. Eisenhower has carried the main burden of Allied responsibility in military operations of the greatest complexity he has been harassed by Gen. De Gaulle.

The patience of the American military men has been superb. Doubtless Roosevelt has restrained many an outburst of public condemnation by our military spokesmen against De Gaulle.

Propaganda for Enemy

The enemy, of course, has been using the dissension for local propaganda in France but that can hardly be helped. Lately also an effort has even been made to paint the president as an imperialist bent on breaking up France's colonial empire. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The United States doesn't want to own one inch of France's colonies or any other nation's colonies unless it be some of Japan's strategic islands near our bases. What America wants is some means of leasing or securing

Simple and Straightforward Platform Is Recommended for the Republican Party

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Dear Mr. —: (member of Republican convention platform committee): You asked me what I would do if I were a member of the Republican Platform committee. Frankly, I think the time for old-fashioned generalities in platform making is over.

Generally, a platform is forgotten as soon as written. This is because it usually is a composite accumulation of appeals to as many viewpoints as possible, and, therefore, loses any forceful character.

I would write a simple, straight-forward doctrine without equivocation. My suggestions would run something like this:

World Co-operation

International policy—I would promise a sincere effort to co-operate to the utmost for foreign nations in maintaining Christian principles of justice for all peoples. I would not pretend I had a sure-fire way to accomplish this.

I would advocate a formula based on Democratic principles and seek unity which would take the foreign affairs issue out of politics as much as possible.

The formula which is being evolved both by the administration and Republican leaders, of a top council of nations with a secondary assembly and a world court, is a democratic formula. But to bring peace to the world, it must be operated in a democratic way to give and take, with divided authority just as the president, Congress and supreme court in this country function, with individual authority and coherence.

Basic Principles Only

On the issues of air traffic, money, trade, etc., I do not believe anyone can lay down a formula, only a set of basic principles. Obviously, these agreements must be reached by negotiation which also will involve give and take.

I would warn and guard against any ultra idealistic theories and doctrines such as world states, world for federal socialization of medicine, with enforced payroll deductions to finance a monopolistic program.

Contrast this European idea with thousands of pre-payment medical care programs now successfully operating in the United States, to cover the cost of doctors and hospitalization. Roughly, these can be classified into eight types, according to the National Physicians Committee for the Extension of Medical Service: (1) Company or employee medical service plans; (2) Regular insurance company group policies; (3) Medical society approved or sponsored plans; (4) Union sponsored plans; (5) Co-operative groups; (6) Consumer sponsored groups; (7) Farm Security Administration operations; (8) Private group practice clinics.

The foregoing offer means where, by an individual can provide against unusually or prolonged sickness or hospitalization costs under a program best suited to his requirements, instead of being compelled to pay for a federal program, whether he wishes to or not.

The people of this country must assert their rights to retain their individuality, or they will find the professional planners in Washington telling them how to make every move in their daily lives.

Due to legitimate wartime controls by government, there is a growing tendency to extend bureaucratic domination of the people in many directions. This is illustrated in proposals advanced

Willkie's Platform Gets Death Kiss, Mark Sullivan Says

By MARK SULLIVAN

Mr. Wendell Willkie has been writing a series of articles, telling what he thinks the Republicans should put in their party platform. His first article, when printed, caught the attention of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. She, finding herself "much interested," wrote about it in her column. What Mrs. Roosevelt says, about what Mr. Willkie says, has been a part of her own.

"Mr. Wendell Willkie," she wrote, "seems to prove that the objectives of the present administration should be the objectives of the Republican party—but that administratively they should be carried out with greater efficiency; and that the Republican party . . . would prove more efficient in administration."

Thus interpreting Mr. Willkie, Mrs. Roosevelt then makes a point of her own. With ladylike urbanity, she suavely suggests that after all the Republicans, when in power, were not terribly efficient in administration.

Political Kiss

By this reply to Mr. Willkie, Mrs. Roosevelt—to use a metaphor familiar in politics—accomplishes a political kiss, ingeniously double-barreled: For the Republican party, and for Mr. Willkie, a kiss of death; for the Roosevelt administration, a kiss of life. The points ingeniously put over by Mrs. Roosevelt are:

The Republican party is to have the same objectives as the Roosevelt administration. Hence why should the voters make a change?

As for Mr. Willkie's argument that the Republican party would administer the objectives better—there is nothing in that.

As for the kiss of death upon Mr. Willkie, this has a super-deadliness. For Mrs. Roosevelt, in a manner of gentle innocence, manages to convey the idea that Mr. Willkie has the same objectives as the New Deal. And this idea has already been fatal to Mr. Willkie. This charge, frequently made by Mr. Willkie's opponents and critics, was a chief obstacle to his attempt to get the Republican presidential nomination.

Charge Is Not Sustained

But enough of the lethal osculation of Mr. Wendell Willkie by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Let us be fair to Mr. Willkie. The article by him that gave Mrs. Roosevelt her opening was the first of a series. His subsequent articles do not fully bear out the charge that his objectives are the same as the New Deal's. And several of Mr. Willkie's proposals, for planks in the Republican party platform, are farseeing and statesmanlike, even though in some cases debatable. Also, it goes without saying that the Republican party, if successful, would keep some New Deal objectives.

But there is an important question here. Just what is it, primarily, that the Republican party, in this campaign, is called upon to be and do? For an answer, begin by reviewing briefly the party's recent experience.

In 1936 the Republicans had only eight governors—today they have twenty-six. In 1937 they had only seventeen senators—today they have thirty-seven. In 1937 they had only eighty-nine members of the House—today they have 212.

Now why have the Republicans had this comeback? Was it anything the party did, any public record it made, any program it put forward? The answer is no. It was nothing the Republicans in Congress did—that is, nothing affirmative—for they were at all times the minority party. The only record the Republicans could make was the record of a minority and opposition party.

Same Come-Back Reason

The Republicans came back just because they were the opposition party. The reason they came back is the same reason the Democrats came back twelve years ago. It is the same reason the opposition party has always come back in our two-party system.

Opposition parties come back not because of what they do, but because of what the party in power does. Ask yourself, Mr. Willkie, what was it that caused you, about 1939, to leave the Democratic party and join the Republicans? Was it not distaste for what the party in power was doing?

The function of an opposition party is to be an opposition party. That is what nature meant, and what the public expects. That is an opposition party's responsibility. To fail to live up to it is a disservice to the country and to the two-party system. This of course does not mean that an opposition party must never co-operate. The Republicans properly have co-operated in conduct of the war.

Herein is the real guide for the Republicans in their platform-making next week.

Many Stocks Register Advances In Spite of Heavy Profit-Taking

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Demand for stocks continued broad and active today, easily absorbing heavy profit taking as leaders climbed to new peaks for several years. Closing gains ranged from fractions to more than 2 points.

Buoyant strength of such bellwethers as U. S. steel, Westinghouse and duPont supplied a steady influence in the face of profit cashing pressure on some of last week's favorites.

Volume of 2,371,080 shares made it the fourth better-than-two million shares session since the market started on the last business day a week ago. Friday's dealings were 2,317,347 shares.

Westinghouse, at its top up 4 points, closed at a gain of 2½. Eastman Kodak, American Air Lines and duPont showed similar gains. Up 1 or more were United States Steel, Goodrich, Harvester, Union Carbide and Santa Fe.

Major fractional gains were well distributed among coppers, utilities, aircrafts and merchandising and specialty groups. Low priced stocks again were traded in large blocks.

In the Curb advances ranged from fractions to around a point, including Aluminum of America, N. J. Zinc and Pennroad. Transactions here were 435,570 shares against 448,870 Friday.

Rails gave up some of their recent gains under profit taking but the majority of the bond market resisted pressure and the close was about steady.

The volume of trading declined with the downturn and aggregated $8,961,400, face value, against $14,068,100 Friday.

United States governments were quite and steady.

Maryland Farmers Breaking Records

Production Shows Large Increases

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 19 (AP)—Maryland farmers have established new war food production records in dairy cow, laying hen and broiler production this year and are expected to top previous figures in various crop yields if growing conditions continue favorable, the Maryland crop reporting service said today.

With the number of dairy cows throughout the state exceeding all previous figures, the average number of this type cow per farm—12.9 head—was reported the largest on record.

Milk Production Up

Milk production per cow increased six tenths of one per cent in recent months and the production on June 1 of this year—18.6 pounds per animal—has been equalled or exceeded only four times in the last eighteen years, the reporting service continued.

The average number of laying hens per farm block now is 137 birds, compared with a previous high of 121 established in 1927, figures compiled by the Maryland Agricultural Adjustment agency showed. Maryland hens were said to have laid 51,000,000 eggs last month, compared with 47,000,000 in the corresponding month of 1943.

Many More Broilers

The crop reporting service disclosed no figures on Maryland's broiler population but said it was greater than ever before, having experienced a tremendous growth this year.

Among Maryland crops listed by the service as showing tremendous gains were the wheat, oats, rye and barley crops. Wheat farmers will harvest 7,931,000 bushels this year, an increase of sixty-one per cent over 1943 and the largest crop since 1938. The yield per acre as estimated at 21.5 bushels, against a 1933-42 average of 19.2 bushels.

The oats harvest was indicated at 1,378,000 bushels, with the 1933-42 state average 1,061,000 bushels.

Rye Production Gains

Rye production was estimated at 290,000 bushels, compared with a 1933-42 average of 235,000 bushels and barley yield was expected to jump from a 1933-42 average of 1,492,000 bushels to 2,010,000 bushels.

Maryland's peach crop was estimated at 602,000 bushels of peaches this year, a marked increase over the 1943 crop of 221,000 bushels and the 1933-42 average of 401,000 bushels.

Commenting on the 1944 harvest prospect, Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural War Board and the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, declared, "better per-acre yields and the surpassing of the war-food goals indicate that our farmers not only are producing more food but are intensifying their cultivation without destroying food fertility. No better vindication could be asked for the soil conservation materials program of the Maryland Agricultural Adjustment Agency."

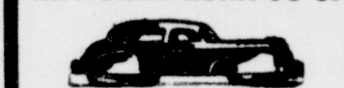

"The amazing increase in dairy cattle numbers and in the milk production vindicates the government dairy production payment program."

Tederick Elected To C. E. Cabinet

George Tederick, Thomas street, was re-elected Allegany county representative and member of the cabinet of the State Christian Endeavor Society at the convention held over the weekend at Hood college, Frederick.

The annual report of the Allegany county union's activities was given by Miss Margaret Doak, president of the county union; who also served as hostess at one of the dinners during the convention.

At the convention the Rev. Lester Case, field secretary of Maryland, severed his connections with the state union and announced he has accepted a similar position with the Pennsylvania union. The Rev. Mr. Case has attended sessions here on a number of occasions, and is well known here.

"Christ the Answer" was the theme of the convention and among the guest speakers were the Rev. Raymond Steinhardt, pastor of Bethany Evangelical Congregational church, Reading, Pa.; the Rev. Raymond Voh, editor of the Christian Endeavor paper, "Evangelical Crusader," and Dr. Paul C. Warren, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Baltimore. Among the international society officers attending were Major Ruel Wolford, Washington, D. C.; Arch McQuillen, Philadelphia, Pa.; the Rev. Raymond Voh, Miss Sarah McCloy, junior superintendent, Brownsville, Pa., and Miss Pauline Shumaker, assistant to the president, Washington, D. C., all trustees.

Besides Miss Doak other delegates attending from here were Miss Drucilla Parrish, county secretary; Miss Helen May Krelling, Miss Dorothy Bucy and Paul Rudolph, all of Cumberland; Mrs. Charles Harbel, tenth legion superintendent; Mrs. Beatrice Capel, intermediate superintendent; Miss Wanda Kasickamp, Miss Margaret Whetstone, Miss Catherine Whetstone, and Miss Jane Grindie, all of Frostburg.

Hoaxes Proved Aid To Movie Careers

Hollywood is one place where a person is not necessarily tossed out on his or her ear for pulling what Americans call, "a fast one." Several of the top ranking stars in the business got started by telling little white lies which became only amusing when the fables aided a brilliant career. Over those other cases where self representation surpassed performance we draw the welcome veil. We will deal in this little tale only with those Hollywood hoaxes which turned out o.k.

First on the list, and inspiration for this particular literary endeavor, is Miss Sigrid Gurie who is currently starring in the powerful new romance, "Voice in the Wind," playing at the Maryland theatre through United Artists release. Miss Gurie who made her entrance into Hollywood telling all and sundry that she was a Norwegian turned out to be a girl from our native heath—Brooklyn, to be exact. But Miss Gurie, realizing that a foreign star is often given the welcome sign quicker than a native born newcomer used her Norwegian parent-age as her "in." It worked, and nobody seemed to care when it later developed that she had been born in Brooklyn. For by that time Miss

Pirates, Hillless Wonders of 1944, Cling to Second

Bucs Hold Last Place in League Batting Averages with .236

By JAMES JORDAN
PITTSBURGH, June 19 (AP)—Unless they break loose with a barrage of blazes soon, the Pittsburgh Pirates are in a fair way to inherit the title of "Hillless Wonders" that the Chicago White Sox wore so proudly back in 1926.

Clinging to second place in the National League after a short western trip, the Bucs returned home today—still holding last place in the National League's team batting averages with a neat .236.

Before the season opened, Manager Frank Frisch looked over his roster and opined:

"There's nothing the matter with those Pirates that a few extra base knocks won't fix."

Today, President William E. Ben-zwanger quipped:

"If they're going to get them, now will be a good time."

By the "now" he meant the twenty-one-game home stand that opens tomorrow night, during which the Bucs meet the champion St. Louis Cardinals four times, and both Cincinnati and New York, who are breathing down Frisch's neck these days.

"I don't know how they do it, with only one player hitting over .300, and he's not a regular," Ben-zwanger said. "But there they are."

Pitching Has Been Good
"They've been getting good pitching, and I guess the few hits they are getting have been coming when they could do the most good. That's the only answer I can see when a team's batting last and fielding fifth and still holding down second place."

Frank Zak, rookie shortstop up from Toronto, is the only player batting over .300 and his average is .452 for the twenty-two games he has played.

But out of the 410 hits the Pirates have knocked out in fifty-two games, 116 have been for extra bases—sixty-nine doubles, twenty-three triples and twenty-four home runs. In addition, they are leading the league in stolen bases with twenty-four.

State Golf Stars Will Meet Again June 27

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—Roger Peacock and Spencer Overton, two of the state's best linksmen, will meet for the second time in two weeks at the Maryland State Golf Association open title tournament June 27 to be held in conjunction with the Middle Atlantic qualifier for the National Professional Golfers' Association event.

The two-in-one hole medal play route at the Woodholme Country Club.

Peacock won by one stroke (145-146) over Overton in the state amateur championship match last Friday and took permanent possession of the Sherwood Forest cup. He had won the award in 1933 and 1934.

TODAY'S PITCHERS

Grace Tossers Extend Loop Winning Streak

Grace Methodist tossers made it three straight victories in the South End Sunday School Softball League yesterday by scoring two runs in the last of the seventh and final inning to nip Salvation Army, 6-4.

Pitcher D. Harmon again went the route for Grace for his third mound triumph. In the seventh, Grace pulled the game out of the fire when Judy singled, D. Screen walked and R. Screen singled with the relay being error at home.

Judy had two for three for Grace while Neld paced Salvation Army with three hits in as many trips.

The loop is composed of six clubs—Salvation Army, Grace Methodist, United Brethren, Living Stone Church of the Brethren, Second Baptist and St. John's. All games are played on the Penn avenue and Locust Grove diamonds. The score: SALVATION ARMY...010 102 0-4 6 2 ORACE...100 020 2-5 5 1

Bill and J. Goss; D. Harmon and Sidway.

Vaughan Is Placed On Retired "Roster"

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—Any lingering hope that Arky Vaughan, the Dodgers' absent shortstop, would return to baseball vanished today when he applied to Commissioner Landis to have his name placed on the Brooklyn club's list of retired players. His request has been granted.

According to baseball rules, Vaughan will have to remain on the retired list for a sixty-day period and that means he will not leave his ranch for baseball this season.

"Babe" Zaharias Wins Tournament Medalist Honors

Winner of 1940 Event Shoots 77 in Western Open Qualifier

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—While her 275-pound wrestler-husband lumbered along and added moral support with nods of his head, "Babe" Zaharias walloped her shots through a high wind today to win medalist honors in the women's Western open golf tournament.

George Zaharias, master of the flying tackle before he gave up the professional ring three years ago, gave the "Babe" a bear hug after she had toured the trap-infested Park Ridge course in 38-39-77.

"I was six over," commented the "Babe."

She meant, of course, she was six over men's par—really the measuring stick for her professional game.

The hurdling and javelin-throwing Olympic champion of 1932 was two over women's par of 38-37-75, after helping to nullify five bogeys with three birdies. "Babe," winner of the 1940 Western open, was using trons where most of her opponents were contented to punch along with woods. Her longest drive was 290 yards.

Runnerup for medalist was 20-year-old Dorothy Germain, of Philadelphia, the 1943 Western amateur queen, who posted a 39-40-79 despite going over par on eight holes.

The defending champion, Marine Lt. Patty Berg, fought off the effects of a faulty putter and straying drives to finish with a 41-40-81.

Bell and Edenhart Trim George, Cox

Lou Bell and "Bud" Edenhart turned the tables on "Neb" George and Walter Cox in a ten-game bowling match Sunday night at Club Recreation and the Savoy.

Bell and Edenhart, who had lost a previous match to the George-Cox outfit, won by 138 pins. They piled up their winning margin at the Savoy after leaving the Club with a deficit of twenty-seven sticks. In the five games at the Club, George and Cox had 1,644 and Bell and Edenhart 1,617. At the Savoy, the winners hit 1,603 and the losers 1,438.

Edenhart, who had the only single game over 200—219 in the first game at the Savoy—had high set of 1,695. Cox had 1,573. Bell 1,525 and George 1,509. The scores:

Lee Murray Outboxes "Hatchman" Sheppard

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—Lee Q. Murray, switch-hitting South Norwalk, Conn., negro, outboxed and outslugged his way to a unanimous twelve-round decision tonight over "Hatchman" Curtis Sheppard, of Pittsburgh, to retain the Maryland duration championship.

Murray weighed 207½, Sheppard 185½.

Tex Sullivan, the champion's manager, announced after the decision that he and the manager of Joe Baksi, current white hope for the heavyweight crown, were negotiating for an outdoor bout later this season between their boys, either in New York or Baltimore.

White Sox Manager Will Rejoin Squad

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, left today for St. Louis to take charge of his club again, after ten days' illness.

"I listened to both Cleveland games," he said, "and almost had a relapse. If I'm gonna get dizzy, I'd rather get that way watching them than hearing about it."

In Tennis Exhibition

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Bill Tilden, 51-year-old former tennis champion, is coming east from Los Angeles to participate in the Red Cross war fund net exhibitions at Forest Hills on July 2, 3 and 4.

The SPORTLIGHT By GRANTLAND RICE

Mammoths Are Returning

After the collapse of Primo Carnera at the hands of Max Baer, right and left, it was generally conceded that the day of the mammoths and the mastodons was about over. Joe Louis, ranging from 201 to 205 pounds, was figured to be the ideal heavyweight make up.

Then Billy Conn at 174 almost overtook Louis. This was another crack at the pachyderma in favor of faster-moving animals. But apparently you can't keep these dinosaurs out of the picture. The troglodytes keep beating back.

A day or two ago I took this matter up with Damon Runyon, then recuperating swiftly in his hotel suite, when he should drop out, but—WOW—what a find should Eddie Walker be talking about except Big Ben Moroz.

It seems that Big Ben Moroz is a Ukrainian, born in Philadelphia, twenty-three years ago. Big Ben is seven feet, two inches tall and he happens to weigh 293 pounds. He is over six inches taller than Carnera and some twenty-five pounds heavier.

Eddie Walker says Moroz looks good in a gymnasium, that he moves around neatly and punches very well. He also admits there is some room for improvement, and that Big Ben won't be rushed until he seems to be ready, which probably won't be tomorrow or the day after.

A day later we ran across Good Time Charlie Friedman who has a Chinaman in tow, also seven feet in height, also weighing close to 300 pounds.

Good Time Charlie is the prospector who dug up Carnera, using a derrick for this purpose. It might not be a bad idea to match Good Time Charlie's Chinaman against Big Ben Moroz and let nature take its course.

A Few Ring Giants

The two heavyweight giants who reached the top were Jess Willard and Primo Carnera.

Willard, around six feet six in height, weighed in the general neighborhood of 260 pounds the day he met Dempsey, twenty-five years ago this coming July Fourth.

But the most masodonic of all the heavyweights was an Ottawa negro by the name of Henry Johnson who scrambled around from 1898 to 1900—who was over seven feet tall and something over 300 pounds in weight.

Weight, however, can be an over-played proposition. One of the worst fighters I ever saw come about in the meeting of Jess Willard and Carl Morris. Their total displacement ran a trifle over 500 pounds and on that night neither could have beaten a good welterweight.

Fitzsimmons, weighing at the time around 165 pounds, came close to killing Ed Dundhorst at 300 pounds, almost tearing his face away with a single punch.

The most active big man I've ever seen in the ring was Jim Jeffries. This was around 1903. At that time Jeff weighed 215 pounds. He could run the 100 yards in the immediate neighborhood of ten seconds and he could high jump in the vicinity of six feet.

It was something of a shock to see some Jeffries, in name only, seven years later, a short while before he died. Jack Johnson. He was then a portly citizen, partly bald, who looked at least twenty years older.

Jim Corbett and Gene Tunney, at their best, were about the same weight and height—slightly over six feet, weighing close to 185 pounds.

Billy Conn at the same weight with the speed and skill he always carried along would have been one of the best. Even as it was, Conn packed his full share of poison.

It was the general verdict among old timers that Jess Willard at his peak was the best of all the mastodons, who weighed above 250 pounds. Willard could have been one of the best of all the heavyweights if he had made any attempt to keep in condition after the Jack Johnson fight, where he worked himself down to 245 pounds. But Willard would take no advice from any one, and he was never smart enough to handle himself.

And strange as it may seem, I'd rather hate to think what would have happened to Willard and Carnera, both heavyweight champions, if either had ever run across Harry Greb at 160 or 168 pounds. It is my belief that Harry Greb, outweighed by more than 100 pounds, would have wrecked both Willard and Carnera in less than five rounds.

By that round the fast-hitting Greb would have had both fighters bled, their faces a sight. You would probably have seen, in either case, 260 pounds of red ribbons composed largely of human flesh.

The SPORT TRAIL By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—There's nothing like making up your own rules as you go along if it suits your purpose, and that's what the college football leagues seem to be doing, due to the inertia of the National Rules committee.

If the war should continue very long and the rules committee continue its policy of hibernation we can expect more versions of the game than there are of a rumor, and the complications that may result when exponents of one set of rules meet a team with another brand are intrigued, to say the least.

The Pacific Coast Conference is the latest group to decide to operate under its own home-made system. The coast teams will forward pass from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, something the pros have been doing for years very successfully, both from the standpoint of color and efficiency.

Writer Likes Change

Personally, we like that change, and see no harm in it despite the idea of some critics that it will increase the risk of injury to the passer. George Strickler, who tells the world about the National Pro League, says:

"How do they reconcile that with the facts? The high schools, who certainly aren't out trying to get young men maimed, have been using it for some time. Their state insurance files, which provide the most accurate records available on football mishaps, have shown a definite decrease in injuries under this rule, especially in passing situations."

We do not think the present tendency of coaches to alter the recognized code to suit their convenience is in any sense a revolt against the established rules body. We see it as merely a move to temporarily plug a gap in the rules they think needs plugging until the national committee again convenes.

When that time arrives, which we are assured will not be until after the war, we think the schools will live up to any changes or non-changes that may be made or not made to continue the uniformity of the game.

Variable Rules Hurt Sport

That is, if the rules body thumbs down the coast idea of passing from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, we think, in the interest of unity, the Coast conference will abolish the plan. Meanwhile, it is going to try it, and the manner in which it works out will have a bearing on the decision of the rules makers when they do meet.

The quickest way to ruin the popularity of any sports is to have variable rules, and this would be particularly true of football, with its mishmash of inter-collegiate games. The coaches know this, and will

Big Leagues Are Still Producing One-Man Teams

At Least Half Dozen Players Have Become Jack-of-All-Trades

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Mike Ryba, former one-man club of the Boston Red Sox, has confined his talents exclusively to the pitching mound this year. But there are at least half a dozen other major league players who have become jack-of-all trades in a baseball uniform.

Aside from his pitching duties and occasional pinch hitting, Ryba has shown little tendency to relieve his past when he could—and did handle any baseball task, on the field or in the front office.

Carnett Is Handyman

In their 1944 prize rookie, Carnett, the Chicago White Sox have a man of many positions, however. Carnett is a former pitcher and had tryouts as a flier with the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves. For the White Sox, the Irishman has played all the outfield positions and when Hal Trosky pulled a muscle, Carnett moved to first base. He is hitting better than .350.

Gilberto Torres, one of Washington's Cubans, is another handy man, winner of nineteen games for Montgomery of the Southern Association last year. Torres now is the Senators' regular third baseman. He also has filled in at second and first.

Bobby Bragan came to the Brooklyn Dodgers as a catcher but also has appeared at shortstop and third base. Mickey Owen, another Dodger backstop, has had similar experiences these years.

Jim Wadell opened the season as the regular first baseman for the Philadelphia Phils but when Tony Lupien was purchased from the Boston Red Sox he switched to the outfield and now is leading the club in batting.

Macon Plays First

Luis Olmo started the campaign as Brooklyn's second baseman but after three weeks returned to the outfield.

Max Macon, a pitcher with the Dodgers in 1943, is the regular first baseman for the Braves. He's hitting just under .300 and leads the circuit in stolen bases.

Others who have appeared in more than one position this spring are Manager Mel Ott, of the New York Giants, in right field and third base; Nap Reyes, Giants, third base and left field; George Metkovich, Red Sox, first base and center field; Eddie Lake, Red Sox, shortstop and pitcher; Buck Fausett, Cincinnati, third and pitcher; Al Uper, Detroit, second and catcher; and Mark Christman, Browns, first and third.

Joyce and Pep Will Meet in Chicago July 7

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—Willie Joyce, Gary, Ind., negro lightweight, winner of two out of three engagements with Henry Armstrong, today was matched for a ten-round bout with Willie Pep, Hartford, Conn., at the White Sox ball park July 7 under the promotion of Jack Kearns.

Pep is the New York state featherweight champion, while Joyce is the California lightweight title holder.

Brewers Will Oppose Wellersburg Tossers

The Queen City Brewers of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, will step outside the circuit this evening to meet Wellersburg, Pa., tossers at 6:30 on the North End Playground field.

Hancock A. C. Tossers Lose to Williamsport

HANCOCK, June 19—The Williamsport Wildcats defeated the Hancock A. C. baseball outfit at Williamsport yesterday, 12-11. Rowe, with four for four and Les Hinckle, with three hits, including two homers, paced the local nine. Martin had four blows for Williamsport.

Hancock is without a game for Sunday and would like to book a contest for that date. Teams interested should phone Hancock 177 before 6 p. m. or write Herbert Johnson, Hancock, Md.

Demaret To Compete In Victory Open Golf

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—Seaman Jimmy Demaret, one of golf's leading performers for more than a decade, has obtained special leave from his Bainbridge (Md.) naval training base to compete in the $10,000 Chicago Victory national golf championships at the Edgewater course, June 28-July 2.

In his last major competition, Jimmy tied with Mike Turnesa for second place behind Champion Ben Hogan in the 1942 Hale America open.

Soldiers did all of the construction work on the course over which nearly 2,000 persons played during the first week of operation.

Americans Want To Reach Siena Before July 2

Italian City Is Famous for Meet of Gee-Gees Every Year

SID FEDER

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY NORTH OF ROME, June 19 (AP)—The horse players traveling with the Fifth army are thinking of sending a task force against the city of Siena, some 100 miles up the road, which is famous for its two-day meet of the gee-gees every year.

This is no ordinary race meeting so we would like some special racing characters for our task force. For instance, we would like Ben Jones, of Partell, Mo., and have him bring along Whirlaway. And we'd also like Don Meade and Hers Fisher so that they could dust off some of that stuff from the 1931 derby which, if you recall, was no worse than a good main bout for Madison Square Garden.

The Siena track is the Piazza Vittorio Emanuele in the center of town, which is like having the ponies run around Times Square, the loop or maybe Capitol Hill in Harrisburg, Pa.

They have racing every year in Siena and there are two festival days—July 2 and Aug. 16. The galleys have four legs but that is about the only resemblance to Matt Winn's whizbang at Churchill Downs.

The race itself is called the Palio, which means "race" in Italian, only it is spelled in capital letters. A cannon booms to start the parade to the west and another cannon springs the barrier. Then the ponies run around the square until a bell goes ding-dong. That means school is out.

The piazza is decorated lavishly and thick mattresses are hung against the ancient buildings around the track. These aren't decorations. Most always some of the jockeys are tossed by their mounts and the mattresses are there to prevent the fellows from denting their skulls against the walls—or vice versa.

One nice thing about this race, if you are looking at it from a horseplayer's point of view, is that a gee-gee can throw his rider and if it still can come in first his number is hung up as the winner.

Salvage Gathering In Frostburg Area Set for June 24

Committee in Charge Plans Largest Collection Ever Attempted

By RUDOLPH NICKEL
FROSTBURG, June 19.—Citizens of Frostburg, in co-operation with the Upper Potomac Salvage committee, are planning the greatest collection of salvage material so far attempted in this area. The date for the collection is Saturday, June 24. Tin cans will be collected by the Frostburg Salvage committee group, and will be shipped to Piedmont, where they will be loaded on a railroad car, along with cans from Oakland, McCoole, Kitzmiller and other towns affiliated with the Upper Potomac group.

City To Donate Trucks
The committee plans to make the tin can collection larger in volume than any previous collection. The mayor and council have donated the use of both of the city trucks and will furnish drivers at the city's expense for this drive to aid the war effort. Residents are asked to have their cans neatly packed and placed in front of their homes or place of business where they may be easily seen by the trucks.

Paper of all kinds is to be collected the same day by the Boy Scouts of Frostburg. In a recent address before the Frostburg Rotary Club, Julian G. Patrick, of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company, stated that 1944 is the most critical period of the war and said the men on the fighting front must not suffer for want of paper containers.

Asked To Bundle Paper
Impressed by the appeal of Patrick that all the paper possible be collected, the committee in charge of the drive requests that all magazines be tied in one bundle and all papers tied in a separate bundle and placed on the curb Saturday morning at the same time that cans are placed on the curb for collection. The collectors will begin work at 9 a. m., and all materials are to be on the curb by that time.

Walter E. Mackay, chairman of the salvage committee says he is advised that paper and tin are right now the most urgently needed salvage of all and urges that every citizen co-operate in this effort to back up the soldiers and sailors on the fighting front.

Final rites for Mrs. Clara Miller Haley, 81, Hoffman, who died Wednesday night in Miners hospital, were held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the First Congregational church, Bowers street, with the Rev. J. P. Zimmerman, pastor, in charge.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. from the residence. Interment will be in Allegheny cemetery.

Aris, Cleo, Mich., and the following children: Miss Margaret Ewing, Baltimore; Mrs. Isabelle Thomas and Mrs. Kathryn Hart, Woodland; Miss Willa Ewing, Akron; Mrs. Elizabeth Gerig, Hudson, Ohio; Robert Ewing, Frostburg; Cpl. ## Hitler Is Barred As Bond Owner

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—You can't let Hitler and Tojo as co-owners of your war bonds even if you plan to collect when they're dead. The treasury said so today in the matter of some bonds bought by Dr. O. Charles Erickson of Sioux Falls, S. D. He named Hitler, Tojo, Mussolini, Laval, Himmler, Goering, Goebbels and Quisling as co-owners, with the bonds payable to him at their deaths.

Regulations restrict bond purchases to residents of the United States and its possessions, citizens who are abroad temporarily and non-resident aliens working for the United States government.

Marine Sentry Kills Fleeing Prisoner
PHILADELPHIA, June 19 (AP)—A prisoner at the Philadelphia navy yard was shot to death today by a marine sentry when he attempted to escape, the Fourth naval district announced.

The prisoner, not immediately identified, eluded his guard during a period of darkness caused by a storm at about 10:30 this morning, the navy said.

"Near the gate he broke into a run when a marine guard ordered him to halt," the announcement added. "He failed to halt and a shot was fired."

Shipyard Culbacks Rumors All Denied

BALTIMORE, June 19 (AP)—Rear Admiral Emory S. Land declared today that any rumors of prospective cutbacks at shipyards were false, asserting "the persistence of such rumors suggests to me that the source might be interested in sabotaging the shipbuilding program."

Land, Maritime commission chairman, said in a prepared statement that such rumors could sabotage shipbuilding "at the most crucial point in the war by seeking to drive skilled workmen from the shipyards to look for employment elsewhere."

Bethlehem-Fairfield officials said that in addition to having approximately forty more Liberty ships to build before the yard completed its allotted 385 contracts.

At the same time a "definite increase" in work was expected at the Sparrows Point yard. The official reported Maritime commission construction is being done at this yard as well as work for the navy. Nineteen ships are scheduled for construction here for delivery this year.

300 Boy Scouts To Solicit Bond Pledges in Homes; 12 Teams To Write Bonds

Three-day Solicitation Starts Today in LaVale, Cresaptown and Cumberland Troop Areas

GATEWAY CHATTER

Pvt. Howard Weller, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Weller, 123

These boys, twelve troops in the Cumberland district will solicit the sale of war bonds in a house-to-house canvass today, tomorrow and Thursday in LaVale, Cresaptown and Cumberland Troop Areas.

No. 1, St. Luke's Lutheran church; No. 2, Baltimore and Ohio Y.M.C.A.; No. 4, Centre Street Methodist church; No. 5, St. Peter and Paul church; No. 7, Cumberland Rotary Club; No. 8, St. Mary's church; No. 9, Cresaptown; No. 10, LaVale Volunteer Fire Company; No. 12, Kingsley Methodist church; No. 13, First Presbyterian church; No. 15, Fort Hill high school; and No. 19, St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed church.

Troops Assigned Areas

Each troop will solicit the sale of bonds only within the limits of its assigned service area, and will be in charge of either the scoutmaster, or some other adult appointed by him. All bond pledges will be reported immediately by phone to the person in charge, who will have a bond writing team assigned to him for his troop service area, which will be on duty from approximately 4 to 8:30 p. m. each day of the drive and until all sales have been completed.

Final instructions were given to members of twelve bond writing teams yesterday at a meeting with Kehoe in the Central YMCA. The teams, comprising volunteer workers, are being provided by the following firms:

Firms Provide Teams

E. V. Coyle, Second National bank, Rosenbaum Brothers (two teams), B. Beneman and Sons, Harvey's Jewelry Store, Perkins's Shoe Store, Montgomery Ward and Company, Potomac Edison Company, Lazarus, Inc., McCrory's and The Liberty Trust Company.

Bond writing teams will be dispatched to the homes of purchasers as soon as possible.

Kehoe pointed out that the Boy Scout house-to-house solicitation is better organized than in the Fourth War Loan drive when plans were formulated hastily and the Scouts obtained bond pledges amounting to $21,000 during the third week of the campaign. He is fully confident that bond sales this week will exceed those of the first house-to-house canvass conducted by the Scouts.

Scouts To Be Rewarded

In appreciation for what has been done and what will be done, the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce is furnishing a one week camp scholarship to the best scout salesman in each troop service area. In addition, second place will be an award of one-half the cost towards a week at camp, and third place will be one-fourth of the cost toward a week at camp.

Any sale to relatives and friends or to visitors in a troop area which have to be written up in another troop area must clear through the council office. The scout who secures such a pledge will receive credit as will the scout in whose assigned territory the bond transaction is completed.

Scouts will solicit purchases only and will leave application forms with the purchaser. The transaction will be completed by the bond writing team.

Meeting Is Asked

With B. & O. Men By City Council

Blocking of Crossings and Smoke Nuisance To Be Discussed

Railroad crossing protection, crossing blocking and smoke nuisance will be discussed at a meeting of the Cumberland and Pittsburgh division superintendents of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The meeting was planned by Mayor Thomas S. Post and the city council yesterday.

Police Commissioner James Orr placed the subject before the council, saying night crossing watchmen should be stationed at Pear and Knox streets. The city has an ordinance compelling 24-hour watchmen service, it was pointed out.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, reported that the Valley street crossing was closed for 32 minutes several weeks ago while a long train was having a caboose connected. He suggested that smoke elimination also be discussed with the railroad superintendents at the proposed meeting.

No Money for Projects

No favorable action was taken on any of three proposed street improvement projects after Finance Commissioner William E. McDonald stated the city had no money for such work and would have to borrow.

The first project called for grading, curbing and cinderling Glenwood street, from Arundel to Kent streets, at a cost of $4,136. It was decided the city will furnish property owners the grade line and will grade the street but owners must place their own sidewalks and curbs.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer estimated the second project, which involved improving Frederick street, from Woodland terrace to Peetig avenue, would cost $103,592.50. The work would include grading, curbing, paving, sidewalks and drainage.

The third project—widening and improving Pine avenue at a cost of $500—was referred to the engineer and street commissioner for a further report.

Proposes Subway

Mrs. Patrick I. Stakem, acting manager of the Algonquin hotel, wrote to the council proposing a subway at Williams street to avoid the proposed overhead bridge, and also asked that Canal street be opened and South Mechanic street be made two-way.

A letter from Local 32, International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers, asking that police and firemen be given a wage increase and more time off, was referred to Commissioner Orr.

The Board of Education was granted a temporary permit for a building between Paca and Greene streets near the West Side fire house.

A tax adjustment of $87.52 under an agreement of 1936 was ordered paid to Charles J. Elchner.

A total of $250 was ordered paid to the department of geology, mines and water, Johns Hopkins university, for stream study by the Upper Potomac River Board.

Enoch Wright Fleek, 38-year-old Clarysville filling station operator, and his niece, Mrs. Cecil A. Lawrence, were arrested yesterday afternoon on charges of attempting to obtain for the former a 4-F classification in the draft.

John W. Vincent, special agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced last night.

Fleek, married and the father of four children, is accused in the complaint filed before United States Commissioner Wilbur V. Wilson with conspiring with C. Karl Martin, of Hagerstown to violate the Selective Service act for the purpose of obtaining the 4-F classification for a sum of money. FBI agents said Fleek paid Martin $375 for his aid in getting the classification.

Charged with Conspiracy Mrs. Lawrence is charged with conspiring with her uncle, Fleek, to obtain the 4-F classification for him through Martin in violation of the Selective Service act.

The arrests in this county were two of six made in the state yesterday on charges of violating the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, Vincent said.

Martin was arrested June 2 by the FBI and has been held by United States Commissioner James K. Cullen at Baltimore under $2,500 bond for action of the federal grand jury. He is charged with counseling a draft registrant to take a drug to evade the Selective Service law and was one of sixteen persons arrested by the FBI on June 2 and 3 on charges of violating the Selective Service act.

Arraignment Today

Fleek and Mrs. Lawrence were arrested at their homes yesterday afternoon by an agent of the FBI and State Trooper Graydon S. Dunlap and now are held in the county jail pending their arraignment at 10 o'clock this morning before Commissioner Wilson.

According to federal authorities, Fleek was classified 1-A in December, subsequently underwent his physical examination at Baltimore and early in March received his 4-F classification card. In the meantime, the FBI said, Fleek paid Martin the $375.

The FBI added that Mrs. Lawrence had talked with Martin about rates for obtaining the deferments from the draft.

Severe Wind Storm Strikes Cumberland

Some Trees Are Uprooted; Branches Litter Roads West of City

High winds accompanying a severe electrical storm struck the Cumberland section shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning, uprooted trees and caused other damage throughout the area.

Trees bore the brunt of the storm that brought some relief from the torrid weather of Sunday but the mercury soared back into the higher brackets soon after the wind and rain abated.

A poplar tree on Union street crashed across the thoroughfare and almost hit the Union street building in its fall. The trunk was moved from the street by Potomac Edison Company employees and later was cut into sections and hauled away by city street department employees.

Another tree fell across the Uhl highway near Oldtown but state roads commission workers removed it from the highway when the storm subsided.

Trees were uprooted in the vicinity of Smallwood and Fayette streets and a large white maple in Riverside park was felled by the wind. Another tree was blown down in front of the law offices of William A. Gunter and D. Lindley Sloan at 7 Washington street, while at the height of the storm a hatch was torn from the roof of the Gunter residence at 201 Washington street and carried nearly a block.

Although tree branches littered the highway west of the city, state police and Leo T. Downey, district roads engineer, said traffic was not impeded.

There was little damage to crops in outlying sections although some victory garden crops were flattened in the city.

Grinnalds Makes Tentative Report On Zoning Plan

Reviews 27-Page Ordinance at Session of Planning Group

Public buildings erected in Cumberland would be limited to a height of eighty feet, industrial buildings to fifty feet and buildings in the residential sections to forty feet under provisions of the general zoning ordinance which was reviewed yesterday by Jefferson C. Grinnalds, of Baltimore, city planning and zoning consultant, at a meeting with the Cumberland Planning and Zoning Commission in the mayor's office at city hall.

The preliminary draft of the ordinance, comprising twenty-seven typewritten pages, was presented by Grinnalds at yesterday's session and the many provisions were discussed at length.

The ordinance divides the City of Cumberland into three classes of districts, namely: 1. Residential A; 2. Residential B; 3. Residential C; 4. Business; and 5. Industrial.

Districts Are Established

These districts are indicated on the zone district map which accompanies the ordinance and which is to be part of the ordinance. These districts designated on the map are established.

The height regulations of the ordinance will not apply to bellfries, chimneys, cupolas, domes, grain elevators, fire escapes, flagpoles, antennas, spires, stacks, steeples, poles, masts and wires; water towers or tanks other than those located on the roof of a building; cooling towers, elevator enclosures, pent houses, water tanks, etc.

No building shall be constructed, except in accordance with the regulations prescribed for the district in which such building is located or is proposed to be located, and no building shall be so extended, altered or moved as to reduce the open spaces prescribed for the district in which such building is located or such extension is proposed to be located.

The ordinance also prescribes the width and depth of rear, side and front yards in residential districts.
